

Time to celebrate Birthdays!—A Pre-Primary Event

New Delhi, 29th September, 2014:- The focus was once again on students whose Birthdays were celebrated by the school. Dressed in their pretty dresses, the students blew candles and cut cakes amidst the strains of HAPPY BIRTHDAY! Gifts were also given away while all the students enjoyed gorging on the cakes!

Community Reach Programme

New Delhi, 6th September, 2014:- The Members of the CRP Programme played host to a group of inmates from the Nirmal Jyoti Home for Orphans. The children were in the age group of 6 to 15. Some were struck by physical disability and some were mentally challenged. The Prajnites presented songs and dances to welcome the guests. In return the guests too took to the stage and gave a performance. The members of the CRP team handled the guests with utmost sensitivity and seeing this gave immense satisfaction to the teachers who organise CRP programmes. The guests were given presents such as goodies and chocolates and utility items as well. It is apt to mention that besides the contribution by the school, the students had contributed and gift wrapped the presents themselves. This was yet another step in bringing the school and the community closer and in helping the students to become sensitive to the needs of the less fortunate ones.

The Prime Minister Addresses the Students

New Delhi, 5th September, 2014:- Honouring the directives of the Directorate of Education the school made elaborate arrangements for the Prime Ministers' address to the students of the nation. The experience was unique and enjoyed by the Teachers as well as the students.

Teachers' Day

New Delhi, 5th September, 2014:- Despite the heated discussions doing the rounds in the country regarding the hows and the whys of Teachers' Day, the school celebrated Teachers' Day with gay abandon! The Teachers dressed in their finery presented songs and dances. Games were played and prizes were won. The Management felicitated the Teachers by presenting each teacher with a token in recognition of the services the teachers rendered to the institution. This was followed by lunch with the Management.
